To FIND THE WEIGHT OF SHEEP.—
good way to ascertain the weight sheep that you wish to sell for mut is to take it alive and weigh it, and vide the amount by seven. Thus, sheep that would weigh 148 pou divided by seven, would give twe pounds of dead weight, equal to weight of a quarter, or eighty pou for the whole mutton. The pelt rough tallow would make about twe pounds more, thus making what is cal in the Boston market four quarters the animal. Of course sheep poorly extra fattened will go above or bel this average, but on the whole I ask farmers to test it, and see if it is not c rect.

Be...d the enormous stock of goods in their ...l filled storehouses; whose trains have ...ught them hither? Whose credit and money ...ply the comfort and necessaries of life at ... prices to the people of Utah? It is no ...paragement to the Mormon merchants to ... that the Gentiles have done their share ...ards all this, and towards making Salt ...e what it to-day is.

...n our last issue we noted two or three ...dsome structures erected during the sea... by "ungodly Gentiles," as well as ...e by Mormon enterprise and capital, ...l without invidious distinction in that ...ard, for we despise and condemn such dis...ctions. Enterprise and public spirit are ...itled to encomiums wherever found. We ...ght, in illustration of the improvements go... on around us, have filled a column with ...dences of the enterprise of the Gentiles—...much divided in some quarters. The mag...icent and commodious two story store ...rehouse of Gilbert & Sons, in the rear of ...ir salesroom on Main street, a similar mas...e structure of solid masonry erected by ...skadden & Kerr, of the Miners National ...nk, adjoining and in the rear of that insti...tion,—both filled from cellar to roof with ...oice and merchantable goods and wares. ...milar improvements lately made by Ranso...ff & Co., Walker Bros., and others of our ...ntile merchants exhibit the energy and ...osperity and public spirit of men who can ...ll afford to smile at the petty shafts hurled ...ainst either them or their class.

...Pass through our business thoroughfares, ...op in at the most extensive establishments, ...hold the well-filled shelves, store-rooms and ...llars, and if the corruption and villainy of ...entileism (!) don't enable you to discover ...at kind of enterprise it is that has accomp...hed all this; ask your neighbor, and he will ...l you, "Verily, these be Gentiles," and if ... honest he will also tell you that these ... the men whose enterprise is building up ... city, and whose daily lives bespeak the ...od, worthy and respected citizen.

...The Salt Lake of to-day is not the Salt Lake ... three years agone, and not a little of her ...sent prosperity and magnificence does she ...e to the Gentiles, against whom it is sought, ... some, to raise a hue and cry. American ...izens come here because they choose ... to do; they remain because it is their privi...e and their right. They condemn what ...y do not approve, because they are not ...sfamen of any thrall; they think, and ...eak and act as their judgment dictates, and ...y don't propose to ask any Sir Oracle, ec...dastic or lay, how many "potatoes they ...ll cook for dinner."

...As themselves do not indulge in "slander, ...misrepresentation nor lies," nor yet in the ...nical vituperation only acquired in the highly perfumed regions of Billingsgate, we suspect they do not greatly fear that their standing or reputation can be very seriously affected by covert slurs or open attack.

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

[SPECIAL TO THE "DAILY UNION VEDETTE."]

Chicago, November 24.

Since Simonton's appointment to the agency of the New York Associated Press three weeks ago many healthful and much needed reforms have been inaugurated, and the affairs of the bureau have progressed smoothly against obstacles that would have appalled, if not paralyzed, e less experienced and resolute man. It was found that nearly all the principal sub-agencies from Europe to the Pacific were filled with Craig's tools, unscrupulous as their leader, and only waiting his nod to desert Simonton in a body. Craig took rooms adjoining Simonton's and issued from thence his flaming pronunciamentos. That he did not commence operations on the 12th inst. is due to Simonton's strategy in heading him off and preventing wholesale desertion of agents. That he has not gained to himself any promise of support by newspapers of the country is due to his personal unpopularity among editors who have for many years groaned under burdens which seemed impossible to remove. There was a unanimous amen when Craig's head went into the basket, and his subsequent machinations have only made the editors of New York and other principal cities more determined that he shall not again be clothed with any power over the press of the country. Craig now announces that he will begin next Monday, the 26th, but his agency will probably amount to no more than the sale of news to speculators and the gratuitous furnishing to such few starving papers as cannot buy it of the regular association.

Editors and publishers of all the principal papers of the country are now in New York conferring with Simonton, and New York editors are discussing the means whereby the Associated Press can be made more effective under the new management.

Washington specials say that the Government is yet without advices in reference to the arrest and escape of John Surratt, announced by a cable telegram a few days since; this much, however, is known, that Surratt was traced to Richmond and from there he is supposed to have gone to Scotland via Canada, where he took refuge in a Catholic convent. It is not considered probable that he will ever be returned to this country for trial.

London, November 22.

The new Russian loan for seventy million florins has already met with great success, one-third of the amount having been already taken, with a certain prospect that the whole will be placed.

New York, November 24.

Two more distilleries were seized yesterday. The disclosures of distillery frauds hereabouts are astounding.

Kingston, Jamaica, dates to the 14th say the coolie trade has revived. The Jamaica Legislature met on the 6th. Complaints were rife about high duties and obnoxious laws.

The Herald's Washington special says it is intimated in official circles that the French Government has declared its purpose not to abide by any arrangement concluded with Seward to withdraw the troops from Mexico before winter, and now postpones the withdrawal until spring. It is believed this was the subject before the Cabinet yesterday.

The arrest of Ortega proves to have been Sheridan's voluntary act, since approved by the Government.

Cotton frauds, as developed by investigations of the Congressional Commissioners, are assuming prodigious proportions.

Washington, November 24.

About the middle of October the French Minister of State addressed this Government, proposing the change of programme agreed upon last June, between Minister Bigelow and Drouyn de L. Huys, for the evacuation of Mexico. Instead of removing troops in detachments, beginning in November and ending in six months, it was proposed to embark all in one body about the first of January. Our Government replied, through Bigelow, that it adhered to the original programme and hoped there would be no delay in the sailing of the first detachment.

Last Monday Marquis de Montholon communicated the demand that Napoleon desired more time for a general evacuation, and proposing to defer it four months.

The President and Cabinet after due deliberation directed Seward to reply to Montholon that this Government sees no good reason for any departure from the programme of June, which was proposed wholly by French Ministers at that time and accepted by the United States, which now insists on its terms being fully carried out.

This decision was communicated to Montholon to-day, and also probably to Senator Dix before his departure.

A steamer has sailed from New Orleans with Government dispatches to Campbell and Sherman at Tampico or Vera Cruz.

Leading Republican Congressmen are maturing a plan for the government of the southern States, in view of their probable refusal to accept the constitutional amendment. It is proposed to reduce these States to a sort of territorial condition modified to meet their peculiar circumstances.

General Meigs has cash funds sufficient, with what will be derived from the sale of property, to run the Quartermasters Department another year without further appropriations by Congress.

New York, November 24.

The effects of the late hurricane in the Bahama islands are set forth by the Governor in his speech to the Legislature, he says: I have lost no time in collecting and making public correct information as to the ravages of the storm in this island; suffice it here to say, upwards of 600 dwellings have been destroyed and an equal number injured: that scarcely a public building has escaped uninjured, many school houses have been blown down and all have been damaged; the majority of the principal warehouses and stores in this city have been thrown down or severely injured; that out of two hundred and forty-two vessels and boats in the harbor on the morning of the 1st of October, all but one had sunk or been driven ashore before the next day had dawned, and that one hundred and eighty-nine of them have been broken up or greatly injured; that the standing crops of provisions and fruits have been destroyed; orchards partially uprooted and fields and gardens to a great degree laid waste. The Ant islands generally exhibit a similar spectacle. The sum of $75,000 was voted by the Legislature to repair damages. The work of restoration is progressing rapidly.

Quebec, November 24.

A large number of temporary sheds have been erected in the burned district, in which many of those burned out by the late fire will find shelter for the winter. A great many are emigrating to the United States.

Chicago, November 24.

The Lake Superior propeller Lac LaBelle and Detroit steamer Milwaukee, collided in St. Clair river Friday evening. The propeller sunk immediately; two lives were lost. The propeller was valued at $120,000 and had a heavy cargo.

New York, November 24.

Flour opened 10@15c better; closed dull, with advance lost—trade brands quoted at $11.70@$13.50. Flour has been greatly depressed during the past week, and at times quite a panic prevailed. Owing to the large arrivals, the decline in gold and the stringency in money prices have declined forty and seventy-five cents per barrel on low and medium grades, and 50 cents on family brand. Wheat opened 1@2c better, with a fair export demand, but closed quiet; the Amber State at $2.95; fair white Genesee $2.75; winter wheat has been much neglected, and closes heavy. The lower dry goods trade shows less signs at the close of the week than for several days past. There is a light demand for goods at prices highly favorable to buyers, but not to manufacturers.

The loan market is easy, but there is still an uncomfortable feeling and great tension.

The Commercial says the tone of the market oscillates constantly between recovery and reaction; but upon the whole there is a doubled gain of confidence. Governments are generally strong, the fall in prices having brought out large orders to buy, especially from the interior.

A steamer to-day took out $692,000 in specie.

General John A. Dix sailed for Paris, and at the latest moment received voluminous instructions by a special messenger from Washington.

The Times' Washington correspondent says: Since the special Cabinet meeting on Thursday there has been the greatest interest to know its purpose. We are enabled to state positively that the Cabinet was called to consider the declarations of France—that she cannot withdraw from Mexico before next spring, when, it is promised, they were to withdraw entirely. This is in violation to an agreement between Seward and De L'Huys, and as a notification of it comes at this late day, our Government is not disposed to put full confidence in any further promise of Napoleon. This subject was further considered in the Cabinet on Friday, General Grant being present by special invitation from the President. It is believed that Minister Dix is instructed to demand the immediate withdrawal of the French troops.

The Atlantic Mail Steamship Directors have elected Allen McLane, President; Francis M. G. Bellows, Vice President; N. F. Johnson, Secretary, and Chas. S. Abercrombie, Treasurer.

More Indian Depredations.

The following letter was published in the Owyhee Avalanche of the 17th:

On the 8th inst., about 10 o'clock, A. M., the Humboldt stage, on its way to Virginia, when within four miles of the Owyhee Ferry, was attacked by Indians. There were six persons on board—Wash Waltermire, driver; Jas. McRae, guard, and four passengers, named J. Holland, P. Casey, D. Harrington and W. Wilcox. They did not suspect danger near, when they were fired into by a party of Indians, who lay concealed among the rocks and behind a fortification which they had erected so as to completely screen themselves from the sight of those in the stage. Wash put his favorite mustangs down to their greatest speed, and would have succeeded in reaching the Ferry without more injury than what was caused by the first volley, but there was another party of Indians on horseback, further along, who kept shooting at them and striving to head them off and surround them, while the party that first fired at them were coming up behind. With steady nerve Wash ran his horses while McRae fought the red devils, and keeping them at bay for a distance of two miles, until one of the wheel horses was shot dead and two others badly wounded. This, of course, stopped the stage.

When the first volley was fired, Wilcox, who was sitting on the front seat inside the coach, received his death wound by a bullet which entered his breast near the right nipple and passing out at his back, also striking Wash in the side, inflicting a slight, though rather painful wound. Wilcox exclaimed, "Oh, my God, I'm killed," and his head sank over and rested on Harrington's knee, where he breathed his last. Harrington was shot in the left hip, the bullet ranging up and passing out at his side, going through some six inches of muscle, produing a bad flesh wound, but it is not considered dangerous.

When the horse fell dead the boys unhitched the other three, one of them getting away from them. They then started for the ferry, about two miles distant, leaving Wilcox dead in the stage, together with the mail, baggage, etc. The Indians seemed determined to prevent their escape and continued shooting at them; but Harrington, with great difficulty, hobbled along, and they reached the ferry about 12 o'clock, completely tired out. Four of us from the station, with Sergeant Brown and eleven men, who are stationed here, immediately hastened to the scene of action, but the red devils had already completed their work and escaped. They dragged Wilcox from the stage, stripped, scalped him and cut his heart out: also, taking with them the blankets, etc., belonging to the passengers, and cutting the mail sack and scattering the letters etc. among the sage brush. We took the body of Wilcox down to the ferry where it was decently interred by the river side. Harrington is here and his wound is doing well. His fellow-passenger, Holland, is here also, taking care of him.

It is a fact to be lamented that the passengers were not armed. They all concur in bestowing great praise upon the driver and guard, by whose presence of mind and unflinching bravery the remaining lives of all the party were, in all probability, saved. The stage is running all right, and the indefatigable Cearley Barnes, Peachey's division agent, is here to-night with a new lot of horses and plenty of barley. He has men armed to the teeth running with the stage; so that, notwithstanding the recent trouble, passengers can consider themselves as safe as at any time during the season. W. J. HILL, Owyhee Ferry, Nov. 9, 1866. Ferryman.

COMMENDABLE.—The State of Nevada has set an example worthy to be followed by others, in the effort to present at the International Exhibition at Paris, specimens of the mineral resources of that State. Governor Blasdel deserves much credit for the interest he has taken to give publicity to the vast resources of Nevada, as well as the arrangement made to facilitate the transportation of the same.

ONCE MORE.—Again are we placed under obligations to that obliging and enterprising periodical dispenser of literary gems, Frank Drake, of Austin, Nevada. If what he sends us is a sample of the kind of literature sold at his place of business, we congratulate our friends in Austin in being so signally blessed.

JEFF. DAVIS.—As the trial of this notorious person is supposed to take place during the present month, we may look forward, as all of our readers naturally will, to the solution of that problem which seems to have puzzled the politicians at Washington as to what should be done with Jeff. Davis.

THE VEDETTE.—The VEDETTE is the pioneer newspaper of Utah. Its extensive circulation in the mining camp and city of Montana and Idaho, (which gives the telegraphic despatches a whole week ahead of the Pacific papers,) makes it the most desirable medium for advertising in these four Territories.

MAJOR JOHN F. SKELTON.—By reference to our advertising columns, it will be seen that our old friend Major Skelton, late Commissary of Subsistence at Camp Douglas, has, in company with a second party, opened a banking house in Chicago, Illinois. The Major has a host of warm friends in this city who wish him prosperity in his new enterprise, and if energy, business tact and unbounded popularity are the elements of success, we are sure he commands it. Miners, and all others going to the East, will do well to give his house a call, as it pays the highest price for gold and always has the DAILY VEDETTE on hand.

GOOD HEALTH.—If it were possible to devise a more agreeable way of drinking to good health or that of a friend, we think it can be found at Watters' jewelry establishment on Main street, in the shape of goblets the most rare and beautiful that ever left the hand of a skillful artisan. The very extensive supply, just received from California and the East, is well worthy the attention of those who desire to purchase for use during the approaching holidays.

IMPROVED TASTE.—It must be admitted on all sides, that the style of merchandise exhibited for sale at the present day is of a very different style than has previously been seen in the Territory. Just take a look into Meek's jewelry establishment and see his silver and plated ware in the shape of waiters, cruit-stands, decanter ditto, all got up in the most elegant style, that tempts the gazer, and reminds him of the approach of Christmas.

IMPUDENCE.—Our devil declares that the individual who carried off the wash hand basin belonging to the office, had better make his escape by bringing it back, or get his life insured and turn the policy over to him, for vengeance is on his track and will surely overtake him.

LATE AND NIGHT DISPATCHES.—We are unable to furnish our readers this morning the benefit of late and midnight telegraphic dispatches, as the line is down east of Laramie.

FOR SALE.—We have for wholesale a large assortment of staple Dry Goods and Groceries, in our warehouse, at the rear of the Miners' National Bank. WM. KISKADDEN & Co.

San Francisco, November 16.

Judge Pratt divorced B. M. Esterle from Francis Jane Esterle this morning, on the ground of incompatibility of disposition.

Anthony Mallon, a soldier of Company C, Ninth Infantry, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart, this morning.

The mining interests of Arizona Territory are said to be improving. All the mines at Williams' Fork are doing well. The ore obtained there will be smelted on the ground instead of being shipped.

A nolle prosequi has been entered in the case of W. J. Walker, indicted for malfeasance in office. The prosecution is believed to have been instigated by interested parties.

George Ciprico and J. H. Murray have filed their petitions in insolvency. Ciprico's liabilities are $1,200, with no assets. Murray's liabilities are about $4,000; no assets.

The will of Moses Hiler, filed in the Probate Court, leaves all his property to his brother, Cedar Hiler, and his sister, Mary Elliott, of this city, who are appointed executor and executrix.

The application of G. J. Lansing for release on habeas corpus was refused by Judge Sawyer yesterday, and the prisoner remanded to the custody of the Sheriff.

San Francisco, November 18.

A fire at four o'clock this morning destroyed thirteen frame tenements in the interior of the block bounded by Green and Vallejo and Dupont and Kearny streets. Loss about $6,000.

The number of deaths in this city last week were 58.

The steamer Active arrived from Victoria last night with over $200,000 in treasure.

Wm. Early, a boy about 11 years of age, was shot by some other boys at Oakland yesterday, and died this morning.

Mark Twain has postponed his departure for the Atlantic States until November 30th.

TURKEY.—A Constantinople correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing under date of September 27th, relates the following [illegible] of the Yankee per[illegible] and modesty, in 10

[illegible] Americans sailed well long ago in Smyrna by sailing vessel, from the United States. One professed to be a representative of the New York [illegible] others of Harper's. They [illegible] to go by land to the Pacific, [illegible] and China. At Smyrna they [illegible] horses for the three, and started inland, without any servant, without any interpreter, without any [illegible] arms, and without any money, but American gold. The second night they camped by a Turk's haystack, [illegible] there. He requested them to "move on," but as they did not know a word of Turkish, the conversation became complicated. One of them shook his sword at the Turk, who took it away from him, and finally overthrew him. One of them lost heart at this adventure and ran away from his companions. He found his way back to Smyrna, but they came back after him and persuaded him to try it again. They made a new start, and that is the last information I have of them. I presume, from their plans, that they have adopted our bold friend Don Quixote as their model, and take "Excelsior" for their motto. They will be very fortunate if they do not find lodgings, before long, in some Turkish prison.

FOREBODING REALIZED.—A New York paper says that Captain Knapp, who was lost in the ill-fated steamer Evening Star, had been for a long time [illegible] favorably to the directors, but had not been in active service for two years, until very lately, in consequence of a perpetual dread that his wife had predicted that some accident would happen to him at sea. This superstition of foreboding grew so strong and took such a hold on that lady's mind that her earnest entreaties at last gained Captain Knapp's consent to give up a sailor's life about three years ago. For two years he led a retired life, but stern needs and the necessity of providing for his family obliged him to return to his old profession, and it was then that he joined the Evening Star, an engagement that has ended in a most disastrous and untimely manner. The Captain seemed himself to have had some misgivings before his departure, for the last request he made of the office was, that when they heard from the vessel they would telegraph to his wife, who lives in Springfield, Connecticut.

PRECOCIOUS YOUTH.—The San Francisco Times says the manager of one of the most popular theatres in that city is the father of a four-year old boy. John excels all the other boys in the State in enterprise. His exploits afford amusement to the neighbors for several blocks around where the family reside. His greatest achievement was accomplished yesterday, when finding a poor miserable old mustang grazing on a vacant lot, he caught the animal and led it to his father's house, took it up stairs, and after trying to tie it to a bedpost, when his mother, having heard the clatter of hoofs on the stairs, went to see what was the matter and was horror-struck at finding such a brute in her husband's bedroom. It required the services of three men to get the animal down stairs. When asked what he meant by such conduct, the little rascal said that he wanted to learn to play circus, and having a lost horse he brought him home to practice on.

THE Constitution of New York provides that every twenty years a proposition for the amendment of that instrument shall be submitted to the people. On the 6th of last month it was decided by over 50,000 majority to call a Constitutional Convention. A change in the judiciary system of the State will constitute a leading amendment, it is thought, but the negro suffrage qualification will doubtless be struck out. At present, blacks owning and paying taxes upon realty to the value of two hundred and fifty dollars are allowed to vote. This qualification will probably be removed.

STATISTICS authority states that over 1,000,000 of human lives have been lost in battle within the last 4,000 years; that there have died from famine, wounds and sufferings occasioned by war, 3,000,000. These added, makes the appalling sum of 4,020,000,000 of human lives sacrificed to the inexorable Moloch of havoc, being equal to six times the entire present population of the globe, which is about 820,000,000.

R. CONNELLY, an English sculptor, living at Florence, has just completed an American subject for a wealthy American connoisseur. It is called the "Return of Peace," and the group is composed of three figures—two female ones, representing America and Peace, at whose feet there lies a form of the human-fiend stamp, [illegible] Rebellion crushed.

DON'T TRY IT AGAIN.—Parson Brownlow has come to time yesterday, the Indianapolis Herald. It is stated that he took a severe cold on the occasion, of having his shirt bosom bursted, probably the first time he hazard so dangerous an experiment.

MADAME FARRAGUT, the wife of the Admiral, was said to be the handsomest woman of the Presidential ball party. Her maiden name was Virginia Loyal.

[illegible] Peters, Senator, is reported to be going to publish a continuation of his novel of "Monte Cristo." The world will thus be informed [illegible] of Edmund Dantes.
